

Answer: Croup (acute laryngotracheobronchitis)

A-P view of neck x-ray shows edematous subglottic walls (arrow in A) converging to create a characteristic "steeple sign" & Lateral view of neck x-ray shows overdistended hypopharynx, subglottic narrowing (arrow in B)