

- Diploic veins are extremely variable in size, number and shape, along with diploic venous lakes, which always appears as irregular linear, oval or round radiolucent lesions with clear demarcation and usually smaller than 2cm in size.